The faculties began to present their books after this School, GSPA/SNU, had established in 1959. At that time, they returned from the United States after the training by means of the faculty development program of ICA technical assistance plan. As the result of their advanced studies, they had endeavored to introduce and spread the new administrative theories of the developed countries such as the United States and England, and in advance to develop and arrange those theories to Korean phenomena at the scholaristic aspects.

The publications, which the faculties have presented since 1959, are shown as in the tabel I.

The Korean Journal of Public Administration have been published 10 times by this School since 1962, which have been distributed to universities and research institutes home and abroad, the Government and other related important agencies, and the alumni. The pforfessors' treatises have been presented mostly in this Journal. Most professors also presents their articles or monographs to other various periodicals home and abroad.

Otherwise, our faculties have been making their efforts to the research projects which have been requested and funded from many agencies such as the Economic Planning Board, the Ministry of Government Administration, the Administive Improvement and Research Commission, and the United States Operations Missions to Korea 1 AID. For the purpose of adminstrating these projects, this School prepared the Institute of Administrative Research within her organization. Since 1961, about 20 reseerch projects have been conducted by this institute, which have contributed to the government policy making and the understanding of Korean public administration. "An Overall Evaluation of Administrative Refom in Korea," "A Study on Regional Economic Co-operation in Asia and Pacific, and "The Changing Qualications of the Ministers, Vice-Ministers, Assistant Vice-Ministers, and Bureau Chiefs from 1948-1967" are the recent projects conducted by the Insittute.

The table III show us the major articles among our professors' works that have been prepared during about 10 years.

III

The Graduate School of Public Administration of the Seoul National University holds the teaching staffs whose competence is recognized as forerunners in their major fields of public administration in Korea, and hence they cannot help taking the lectures in other colleges or universities because of the lack of the competent teaching staff among those institutions. This kind activity of them will be useful to develop the study of public administration in Korea, but it is worried that our members are deprived of their time to study and research.

In the case of the visiting lecture and address, Dean Lee's activities are distinguished in many fields such as the address entitled "University Planning for National Development and Modernization" at the Seminar on the Role of Higher Education in National Development in Asia co-sponsored by the Administrative Improvement and Research Commission and Stanford University, which was held on August 9-22, 1968 and "The Institution-Building of GSPA/SNU," at the Seminar on Development Administration conducted by CAG of ASPA and SEADAG on September 1968. During the period of 1966-68 he had some a dozen addresses home and abroad.

Other professors also have presented on their performances resulted by their studies at various conferences and meetings.

IV

All professors of GSPA hold the memberships of the Korean Association for Public Administration established in 1956, and of the Korean Research Institute of Public Administration established in 1964. They have taken charge of the important positions and roles in the above circles; especially Dean Lee is the present president of KAPA and Professor Yu is that of KRIPA. Professor Won Tai Kim had been the ex-president of KAPA. Besides, each professor participates to the circles in which he is interested according to his major field.

Some professors also have had the relationship with the international organizations or circles such as IIAS and EROPA, and have participated to many international conferences and meetings related to their attentions. In addition, some of them hold the personal membership and this School holds the group membership of EROPA.

The table IV indicates how our faculties have participated to the international meetings and conferences until now.
